Wellspring Refugee Temple

Adventure Prompt

Blue water sparkles under sunlight in pools filled with blooming plants. They grow along the intricate stone walkways as well, small white flowers delicately swaying in the breeze.

Ramshackle tents have been set up, alongside rudimentary tables and benches within this ancient wellspring temple. Ragged clothing barely covers the thin frames of refugees, but this temple has become a sanctuary. It has accommodated those fleeing from their homeland before they too fell prey to death's hand.

Though it's not the home they once knew, the people here are glad. What they've lived through has been like travelling through the hells and back.

Only, they never expected it would follow them.
